Vol. 36, No. 41

Editor: Bill Meehan

Fine spring weather and the friendly face of Senator Toni Boucher, proudly serving Connecticut's 26th District, greeted Rotarians at Marly's.

Announcements:

- Craft Fair – May 27 – It's time to step up to the plate. Calling all club members. Critical positions to be manned on Craft Fair Day. Contact Paul Burnham (pburnham@gregoryandadams.com) to find out how you can help. Plenty of room for more volunteers and vendors of all persuasions.
- Pat Russo announced that he will not interview for the opening created by the recent dismissal of FBI Director James Comey.
- Andy Mais, a candidate for a slot on the Mets' pitching staff, was not in attendance.

Upcoming Events:

5/27 — Arts and Crafts Show

6/10-14 — RI Convention, Atlanta GA

6/22 — 2017 Wilton Rotary Installation Dinner

9/15-17 — Carnival

Program: Connecticut State Senator Toni Boucher

Senator Boucher updated the club about new legislation coming out of the State Capitol as well as the travails of Connecticut's legislature in trying fashion a budget. Maybe the good news is that there is not much in the way of new legislation being enacted. On the other hand, state leaders are scrambling to come up with a budget that is in some sense balanced. Senator Boucher confirmed the state faces hard choices - spend less or tax more. Are there stormy seas ahead?

NEXT MEETING – Friday, April 21, 2017 – 12:15 at Marly's
