Lucy Langley and Laura Delaflor are Co-Presidents of the Undies Project, a not-for-profit that provides new underwear to men, women, and children in need to improve their lives. Underwear is the most under-donated, and most needed, item of clothing. The Project distributes all donations to other non-profits that help those in need, including Neighbor to Neighbor and the Open Door Shelter. There is more information, including how to donate new underwear or make a monetary donation, at www.theundiesproject.org.
